

Fire protection hoods for pallets are fire-resistant, designed to control and limit fire spread around palletized goods.

Hoods act as a barrier between the goods and potential ignition sources in warehouses, storage facilities, or during transportation.

Fire protection hoods primarily aim to contain and suppress early-stage fires, preventing their spread to adjacent pallets or across the facility.

They also help minimize the risk of smoke and toxic gas/fume inhalation, especially in incidents involving lithium-ion batteries.

These hoods are designed for easy placement over pallets, featuring a one-side open-close design with velcro closing. We offer custom-fit sizing to ensure they fit your pallets and accommodate the height of your stacked goods.

EXAMPLES OF SIZES
1250 x 850 x h.1165 mm
1250 x 1050 x h.1420 mm
Other sizes available on customer request

Pallet fire hoods are a crucial component of a comprehensive fire safety plan and should be used alongside other fire prevention and protection measures.
